ANTICOSTI NEWS

2025 SEASON

Good news! Despite the harsher winter conditions inland and the drought last autumn, the deer population is thriving. The Québec à Vol d'Oiseau (QVO) team produced a report for the outfitter and were impressed by the size of the deer population in the area.

Take a look at the photos!

We've made a number of changes to our facilities in response to your feedback from last autumn.

We hope you like them. Further modifications and additions will take place between now and next summer.

We had planned to renovate the Valiquette camp, but delays beyond our control have set the project back. However, we have installed a new solar system and a new 12-volt refrigerator.

As you know, Pierre Lapointe stepped down as CEO last autumn. In May, he also announced that he was retiring as a hunting guide! Ludovic Leblanc, who worked for the outfitter in 2022, has returned to replace him this autumn. Customers of cabin #1 were quickly informed of the situation.

STAY TUNED FOR TERRITORY MAP

ESSENTIAL: SMALL COMMUNICATION DEVICES

A reminder for those who will be hunting in a group: don't forget to bring small communication radios with you.

They are very practical, as each of our guides has one and they allow you to stay in contact with them. They are essential for group hunting. They are now very reasonably priced and available at any sporting goods or electronics store.

They usually come in packs of two with a charger; choose the ones with the best range of 32 miles or more (50 km or more) model examples like Cobra, Uniden, or Midland.

2025 PROMOTION

All hunters who book their 2026 hunting trip at the time of departure (deposit required) will be entered into a draw. The prize is a free hunting trip for 2026. Two winners will be chosen from among the September hunters, two winners from among the October hunters, and two more winners from among the November hunters. Please note that these free trips are non-refundable, non-transferable, and do not include airfare. Good luck to everyone!
